

PUMPFOLERS CODE OF CONDUCT

Safety First

We recognize that pumpfoiling can be dangerous and that accidents can happen, so we commit to always wearing proper safety gear that we deem necessary.

Respect for the Environment

We understand that the water is a fragile and vital ecosystem that must be protected and preserved, so we commit to respecting the environment and avoiding littering, polluting, or disturbing wildlife or natural habitats.

Responsible Behavior

We acknowledge that pumpfoiling involves risks and that we must take responsibility for our actions, so we commit to knowing our limits, avoiding risky maneuvers or situations, and staying aware of our surroundings at all times.

Consideration for Others

We appreciate that we share the water with swimmers, boaters, and other water users, so we commit to staying clear of other watercraft, giving swimmers and other water users a wide berth, using hand signals or other communication methods to alert others to our movements or intentions, and avoiding crowded or congested areas.

Compliance with Regulations

We acknowledge that pumpfoiling may be subject to local regulations or guidelines, so we commit to following any applicable laws, rules, or restrictions regarding pumpfoiling, including speed limits, designated areas, and other requirements.

Fun and Sportsmanship

We recognize that pumpfoiling is also a fun and social activity that brings us together as a community, so we commit to enjoying pumpfoiling with enthusiasm, respect, and good sportsmanship, encouraging and supporting other pumpfoil enthusiasts, and sharing our knowledge, equipment, skills, and passion for this sport with others.
